Staying Safe on the Internet

By providing a wealth of opportunities for learning and fun, computers play an important role in children's lives. But because the Internet also has a potential for danger, this program is designed to teach students rules for staying safe whenever they go online. Introduced by a funny, computer-savvy host named "Chip", the three scenarios alert viewers to online dangers, and teach the appropriate safety rule to follow: Don't open messages from anyone you don't personally know. Don't give out personal information to anyone. Never agree to meet with strangers you meet online. In summing up, "Chip" explains that if something online makes you at all uncomfortable, be sure to ask for help from a grown-up you trust. Students will: recognize that chatting online has certain dangers; learn rules for staying safe online; and know whom to turn to for help if necessary. Includes a printable Teacher's Guide on the DVD.

DVD Programs on Internet Safety & Cyber Bullying

Staying Safe Online: Digital Footprint [CC]

Your digital footprint is the data trace left by your activity in a digital environment, whether on the Internet, buying something with a credit card, or using a mobile phone. Like everything on the web, digital data cannot be washed away - it remains forever, a permanent footprint. Discover how the things you do in a digital environment can ultimately impact your life, including:

- Your Digital Identity - A Permanent Step
- Sharing and Scaring - The Dangers of Sexting
- Social Networking - Safe Steps
- Cleaning Up - Putting Your Best Digital Foot Forward

An Activity Packet that includes five 2-hour lessons that explores the data trace left by activity in a digital environment, is available as a companion to the DVD for $34.95 (item# LZ120002).

3.5 OUT OF 4 STARS! "Digital Footprint serves up a helpful guide to 'putting your best digital foot forward.' Highly recommended." - Video Librarian, May/June 2011

Staying Safe: Strangers, Cyberspace & More [CC]

One great thing about growing up is having more freedom. But having more freedom means you need to use your head to stay safe in even more situations! In Staying Safe: Strangers, Cyberspace & More, young viewers learn the rules to follow when dealing with other people in the neighbourhood, at home and on the Internet. Upbeat and sensitive, the program provides kids with practical tips to avoid danger and examples of scenarios in which safety rules must be followed. Positive and proactive, sensitive topics are explained in a way kids can understand, and the importance of communicating with a trusted adult is reinforced.

Protect Yourself: Personal Safety on the Internet

This documentary-style program features real teens talking about their Internet experiences ranging from frequent messages from people they don't know to invitations to gamble. Several teens talk about harassment, from both the standpoint of the harasser and the victim. A guidance counselor explains to the viewers that the Internet can be viewed as a highway with lots of different rules intended to protect everyone who uses it. Safety is discussed and the teens talk about how they limit the information they post. Teens learn to be assertive and smart when it comes to their actions on the Internet, and discover how to protect themselves and draw the line with anyone who is inappropriate. Students will: REALIZE that harassment, sexual predators, and an addiction to gambling are Internet risks; UNDERSTAND never to give personal information on the Internet to someone they don't know.

DVD Programs on Internet Safety & Cyber Bullying

The Safe Side: Internet Safety [CC]

Julie Clark, founder of The Baby Einstein Company, and John Walsh, host of America's Most Wanted, team up to help make kids stay smart, cool, and safe. This DVD is a kid-friendly field trip through the world of E-mail, downloads, pop-ups and chat rooms that looks at the serious issues that can arise if kids don't rely on their Safe Side Adults. Viewers will join Safe Side Superchick as she finds herself in laugh-out-loud situations that spoof shows like Lizzie McGuire and The Crocodile Hunter. Joining her are two goofy new characters, brother Danger Dude and her dad, Cautionary Dale. Also along for the ride is the animated Clicky, a character designed by NetSmartz, a division of The National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (co-founded by John Walsh). This light approach to the difficult topic of Internet safety talks to kids, not at them. Along with giving children an understanding of potential dangers, The Safe Side: Internet Safety helps them understand what to do if dangerous situations should arise on the Internet. Guaranteed to be enjoyed by viewers, this program is the perfect way for parents to discuss this difficult topic with their kids.

The Internet Generation (Connect With Kids) [CC]

Over 20 million teens use the Internet, 60% say a stranger has contacted them online. 15% lie about their age to visit an adult web site. Almost half use the Internet to post personal photos. And research shows the Internet is now a gathering place for "marginalized" teens engaged in self-injury, anorexia, and other harmful practices. "The Internet Generation" explains what parents need to know about dangers on the Web, and how they can protect their kids.

A Rose For Livvy: A Story About Internet Safety For Teens [CC]

This DVD tells the story of a lonely girl who develops an online relationship with someone she meets in an Internet chat room. Livvy's technology teacher uses a local incident of a missing girl to inform his students about the risks of internet chat rooms. Livvy ignores the advice and an online relationship evolves into a personal encounter at a nearby mall. Unfortunately, the man Livvy meets turns out to be very different than what she expected. This dramatic program, based on real-life situations, emphasizes the possible dangers of developing Internet relationships. Includes a Leader's Guide.

Real Life Teens: Cyber Bullying

Cyber-Bullying is any form of harassment that occurs via the Internet. Vicious forum posts, name calling in chat rooms, posting fake profiles on web sites and mean or cruel email messages are all examples of bullying. While Cyber-Bullying mainly takes place on line, other high tech methods like threatening text messages and taunting voicemail also fall under this category. Cyber-bullying is a crime in some States and has even led to death. Hear from Real Teens as they discuss their views on Cyber-Bullying.

My Blog: Internet Bullies! Just a Click Away [CC]

For many kids, the Internet is an important part of their daily routine. Unfortunately, because of its anonymity and easy accessibility, some kids use instant messaging, blogs, e-mail, chat rooms and social networks to spread, gossip and rumours and harass and embarrass their peers. This program underscores that using the Internet for those purposes is bullying. True-to-life scenarios demonstrate practical ways in which students can protect themselves and restrict opportunities to harass them online.

DVD Programs on Internet Safety & Cyber Bullying

Bullying, The Internet, and You (Real People)

With the remarkable speed of the Internet at their disposal, kids are spreading rumors and gossip, embarrassing and tormenting their peers with a newfound anonymity that emboldens them. This program takes a look at bullying and harassment as it manifests itself on the Internet. Students, who have suffered at the hands of Internet bullies, speak openly about their uniformly painful experiences. Experts on Internet safety offer practical advice to help teens protect themselves and limit the opportunities others have for bullying or harassing them online.

Cyberbullies [CC]

Chat rooms, blogs, and instant messaging have become standard forms of communication for many young people. Unfortunately, they have also become popular ways to bully and harass others. This program is designed to prevent children and teenagers from falling victim to cyberbullying, using dramatizations and Q & A discussions to expand awareness of the issue.

The video discusses cyberbullying warning signs, common patterns of abuse, and questionable online activities and destinations to stay away from. It also presents strategies for responding when cyberbullying occurs, and outlines legal problems involving privacy and libel that young Internet users should be aware of. The DVD has on-demand English subtitles and can be viewed using a DVD player or computer DVD-ROM drive. A viewable/printable instructor's guide is available online.

Think b4 u Post: Your Reputation and Privacy on Social Networking Sites

A person normally wouldn't shout out the details of a secret hookup or give a credit card to a total stranger and say "Max it out for me." Yet as this video playfully points out, in effect that's what people do when they post indiscreetly on social networking sites or are duped by phishing scams. Think b4 u Post uses a light touch to deliver some very serious information on how people can protect their reputation and guard their privacy online while still having a good time using social networking sites. On the "reputation" side, viewers are advised to keep their postings positive, remember that "intended readers" (friends) are only a subset of "actual readers" (friends, teachers, prospective employers...), and more. And on the "privacy" side, viewers are made aware of the consequences of cyberbullying and defamation as well as steps they can take to safeguard their personal information and avoid online/offline predators. Data mining is also discussed. A viewable/printable instructor's guide is available online.

"Provides good cautionary tips for interaction on a social network website...The practical information would be a good platform for discussion. Recommended." - Library Media Connection
